Telstar officials favor separation of sexes in sports

Telstar Regional High School officials have expressed support for a policy change proposed by the Maine Secondary School Principals' Association that would prevent boys from playing on girls' interscholastic sports teams.

"In the past it was usually the boys who couldn't walk and chew gum at the same time who went out for the girls' teams," said Telstar Athletic Director Levi Brown. "But recently, boys with a much higher ability level in terms of speed, strength and agressiveness are starting to play. It's at the stage where it's getting dangerous, and we should nip it in the bud now."

Pointing to the example of girls' softball, Telstar Principal Ted Davis said the school's teams have not yet had serious problems with boys taking positions on girls' teams. But based on what is happening elsewhere in the state he expected boys to soon begin trying out for softball.

"And every time a boy takes a place on a female team he eliminates a girl from playing," Principal Davis said.

The athletic director concurred. "Under the rules right now, we could put four boys on our girls' softball team, and I guarantee that we could win the state championship. That's just not fair."

Under the current MSSPA policy, which was adopted in 1980, boys may play on a girls' team as long as there are no separate-but-equal boys' teams at their school and as long as boys don't make up more than 39 percent of the team.

The MSSPA is asking the state's Human Rights Commission and Department of Education and Cultural Services to give their stamp of approval to a change in this policy to prohibit boys from playing on girls' teams. Girls, however, would still be allowed to com-

Cable TV transfer draws fire from Bethel selectman

When the present and future owners of the Bethel Cablevision system showed up at the Bethel selectmen's meeting Monday night they were not expecting trouble. The present owners of the system have a purchase and sale agreement with United Video Cablevision to sell the system and need the approval of the various towns in the system to do so.

The system serves Bethel, Newry, Greenwood, Woodstock and West Paris, and because each town issued a monopoly franchise to Bethel Cablevision to construct and operate the system, each town has to approve the transfer of the franchise to the prospective new owner. The system serves 1,300 households in the above towns.

The present owners already had approval from the towns of Newry, Greenwood and West Paris when they went before the Bethel selectmen. There they found a very angry Arlan Jodrey, chairman of the Bethel Board of Selectmen.

"Will you maintain an office here on Main Street," he asked United Video's Greg Islan. To which the Greenwich, Conn.-based vice-president responded, "We don't know yet."

"Will rates go up," Mr. Jodrey wanted to know.

"Sure," responded Mr. Islan.

Mr. Islan's answers did not sit well with Mr. Jodrey. Nor did the information that local customers would be billed from a central office in Rockland and would be serviced by a manager in Windham. Mr. Jodrey pointed out that the franchise agreement calls for a representative to be located in Bethel. "We're not going to let you go back on this [franchise] agreement," Mr. Jodrey warned the United Video official.

Mr. Islan quickly added that there would be a local technician to handle problems and there would be a local representative—either at the present office or in one of the stores in town.

New dump fund causes Andover budget increase

The Andover Board of Selectmen completed work on the town's proposed 1988 budget Tuesday night. The total town budget comes to $161,218, up $18,468 over last year's budget.

Selectman Laura Hutchins said the major cause of the increase was a new item in the budget—a so-called "dump fund." Town officials have earmarked $15,000 for this fund, which is to be used to close the present dump and establish a transfer station.

The state Department of Environmental Protection has ordered the town to close the dump by January 1989, or else the state will close it.

The DEP first told the town in 1975 that the dump had only five years of life remaining. Apparently it actually had fourteen. "So we've done pretty well," Mrs. Hutchins commented.

In the run-up to the town election, Betsey White has taken out papers for the three-year school director seat being vacated by Darline Hall.

Alex Legault has taken out papers for the position of treasurer.

Selectman Raymond Hutchins has taken out papers to serve another three-year term on that board, and Ken Dixon, Kathy Williamson, and Wilbur Chenery have all taken out papers seeking re-election to their positions: fire chief, town clerk, and road commissioner respectively.

Newry officials consider alternative waste scheme

The Newry selectmen met yesterday and discussed an offer from Comtex, of Thornton, inviting the town to take part in a new solid waste disposal scheme.

Comtex is hoping to start a waste disposal unit in Rumford and is contacting local towns about contracting with them for the disposal of solid waste. A representative from the company will meet with the selectmen and members of the Solid Waste Committee.

Cold snap shows winter really here

The cold snap of last Thursday and Friday convinced skeptics that yes, Virginia, there really is winter weather this year.

Up until last Wednesday night there hadn't been any severe cold. That changed quickly as the "Montreal Express" blew in from the northwest sending temperatures to about 20-below in many local areas.

Moreover, the temperature never made it above freezing during the day Thursday, and then plummeted again Thursday night—though not to the low lows of Wednesday night. On Friday things began to return to normal, and by Sunday sunshine and a southwest breeze made things seem positively balmy.

During the deep freeze, plumbers and auto wreckers were called upon to perform heroics. Charlie Merrill, of Charlie's Gulf Station (formerly

Fallen tree trips power; skiers delayed on lifts

A falling tree on Rumford Avenue, in Woodstock, knocked out power for most of the Bethel area—including both skiways—Tuesday afternoon.

From Woodstock west to Gilead and north to Newry, power was out for about an hour as Central Maine Power Company crews worked to locate and repair the downed wires.

No major problems were reported as a result of the outage, thanks in part to warm temperatures that kept unheated pipes from freezing.

At both ski areas, however, skiers riding the lifts were forced to cool their boards for awhile in the rain, as lift at-

King holiday proves popular with skiers

While teachers and pastors talked about the man and his ideas, the holiday marking the birth of Martin Luther King Jr. was marked locally mainly by the influx of skiers.

Sunday River Ski Resort hit a new record Sunday with the largest car count ever. There were 3,350 cars parked at the skiway, plus 13 buses. This equated to between 8,500 and 9,000 skiers, skiway officials estimated.

Sunday River's Wende Gray predicted, "You can look at New Year's [weekend] and this weekend as the largest [ski weekends of the season]." She said Presidents' weekend, in February, coincides with high school vacations and therefore families are tempted to head south for a week instead of for the slopes. Ms. Gray said the chief competition of the ski resorts in February is Disney World.

Ms. Gray noted that despite the heavy influx of skiers, there were no bumper-to-bumper lines of cars on the access road. "We know how to park cars better now," she explained.

Mt. Abram Ski Slopes was also packed on both Saturday and Sunday. The crowds at the Locke Mills skiway translated into business for the newly reopened Locke Mills Marketplace, where employees reported heavy traffic, particularly on Saturday. Bob Coolidge, at Bob's Corner Store, said business has been excellent at his store, as well.

The rain on Monday may have dampened the spirits of some skiers, but those who ventured out found conditions not as bad at the higher elevations as they were in the villages. Ms. Gray, at Sunday River, said there were 850 people who had purchased multi-day tickets through Monday, and "Nobody asked for their money back."

When power was lost throughout the area in the afternoon, however, chairlifts slowed, and Ms. Gray offered gift certificates to the skiers who were inconvenienced. (See separate story.)

NATHAN WHITWORTH, Grade 2, had an appreciative audience as he read one of the stories he had written in class. Local students visited the senior citizen meal site at the Methodist Church last week to share their writings with the lunch-time visitors. The students who made the trip were: Nathan Whitworth, Mindy Hale, Tabetha Mason, Nancy Morgan, Cathy Morgan, Lenny Mason, and Brandi Brooks. They were accompanied by writing program volunteers Marguerite Graham and Jean Bass. (Photo by Jeanne Boelsma)

Telstar Sophomores Offer Slave Day for Community
On January 22nd from 9-12 a.m., the Sophomores from Telstar will be putting on a slave day. Any person may hire a "slave" for the three-hour block of time between 9-12 a.m. A contract must be signed by both the "master" and the "slave". Transportation must be provided by the "master" if needed. There will be a minimum $10 donation expected. We, as Sophomores, promise to do our best work for you. If you would like to hire a slave for Friday, January 22nd, please contact the high school office (824-2136) and leave your name and phone number. The Sophomore class will return the phone call and secure a slave for you.

Opinions

Equal opportunity is the goal

Telstar officials have correctly added their voices to those raised around the state to demand an end to boys playing on what have traditionally been girls' interscholastic athletic teams.

At issue is whether students of either sex should be allowed to play on whatever teams they prefer. As things now stand, a boy can play field hockey or softball, and a girl can play soccer or baseball or football. In sports, such as basketball, where teams exist for each gender, the question does not arise.

The Maine Secondary School Principals' Association—the regulatory authority for interscholastic sports—is seeking to change the rules in order to bar boys from competing on field hockey and softball teams. As Telstar Athletic Director Levi Brown says, "Under the rules right now, we could put four boys on our girls' softball team, and I guarantee that we could win the state championship."

While this seems like clear justification for changing the rules, there are those who argue that the problem of boys playing on girls' teams is not widespread enough to need correcting. And others argue that changing the rules to bar boys from girls' teams would be a way of perpetuating sexist stereotypes.

Both arguments have merit. But the object of inter-scholastic sports should be to encourage participation by all segments of the school population. If this requires affirmative action, then affirmative action should be taken by barring boys from girls' teams. The goal should be equal opportunity for all, and the present rules tend to promote a system of equal opportunity for the bigger and stronger. The rules should be changed.

WHEN A BOY plays on a girls' team, he not only brings more muscle into a contest, he also deprives a girl the chance to play. Above, Fernando Ferrer was one of the Dirigo players Telstar's field hockey girls faced last fall.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In our state's educational systems—at the elementary, secondary, public, private, vocational and post-secondary levels—there are trained professionals—school counselors—who help today's students with academic, career and social choices. Many of these professionals are members of the Maine Association for Counseling and Development (MeACD). The MeACD's membership numbers over 400, who are served and supported by an executive committee and five state divisional associations. Members are afforded leadership that promotes public relations, networking of resources, conferences and workshops, as well as representation with state and national legislative matters, professional development and societal issues and topics.

The MeACD, in conjunction with the American School Counselor Association, feels it is important for counselors to inform the public about the role they have in the learning process. Our services reach out not only to students but to parents, teachers, administrators, staff, business and community leaders. Thus, Feb. 1-5, counselors throughout the state will celebrate National School Counseling Week. The theme this year is "Sometimes the Learning Process Needs a Helping Hand Your School Counselor—Someone You Can Count On."

Therefore, on behalf of the MeACD, I invite you to celebrate this week by focusing attention on school counselors, our services and our programs. Counselors will promote many activities that will be offered specifically for you or need your assistance in providing a special event. This is a good time for you to take advantage of the services your school counselor can perform for you today.

Daniel O. Hart
MeACD President-elect

To the Editor:

I am writing in reference to the last line of Robin Zinchuk's letter in last week's Citizen. She says the positive economic impact of these visitors benefits us all.

I am tired of someone else speaking for me, so I have decided to speak for myself.

The economic impact of the visitors does benefit those of you who are in business; that is a fact. The benefits to those of us that are not in business is another matter.

There are those of us who were born and raised in this town that have seen it change in several ways, some good and some bad. If the influx of visitors such as we saw over the Christmas and New Year's vacation is an indication of what is to come, then we can look forward to even more changes.

These are a few of the benefits those of us who are not in business get from the visitors: inadequate parking near the stores, long lines at the grocery store, traffic hazards—just to mention a few.

Bethel is fast becoming another North Conway, and I for one am saddened by this. I feel a little like the bumper sticker I saw on a car awhile back: "Welcome to Maine; now go home." But it should read, "Welcome to Bethel; now go home."

Jane B. Young
Bethel

To the Editor:

As a person who was born down here but whose family roots are up in your area, I have become a bit dismayed.

Having spent many of my vacations in the Bethel area over the last 35 years, I got to know many people and ways of your town. Since 1984, however, I switched to Gilead.

Although not staying there any longer, I have come to Bethel each year to talk to people on the streets and in the stores. I heard your town called "Bethel, Mass." by more than one person.

For tourism to be successful it has to improve the quality of life for local folks. In an economic sense it will help, especially for bed and breakfasts. But regarding all the other aspects, I just don't think Bethel will fare as well as many of you think. Zoning controls will help control growth, but negative changes are inevitable. People's attitudes will change and, to a certain extent, their lifestyles. Their self-image will suffer as most people realize that the visitors are richer. The visitors bring with them attitudes and habits different than the folks of Bethel. Down here it's life in the "Fast Lane." You couldn't be more correct when you refer to many of the drivers as rude, aggressive and reckless. The auto insurance companies are leaving Mass. The losses are too heavy.

If you look at the Maine coast and many places in Vermont, you can see that for all practical purposes the tourists control them. The natives didn't want that. People with big money made them secondary citizens. As economic dependence on the skiway grows, resentment among local people will probably grow. That special unique character that Bethel has had in the past will be hard to keep. All summer long the Boston Sunday Globe ran stories of New England towns going downhill due to outside influence.

From 1950 to 1985 Bethel was real special to me. There was a great small-town spirit up there. It was quiet and peaceful. Somehow it's only a memory now. Bethel still exists, but only the name is the same. I hope you folks can keep a balance up there. I'll be pulling for you. Although Bethel is not the place it once was for me, there are many memories which I will always treasure. At 41, hopefully there will be a few more visits for me up to your area.

From Augusta

Last Tuesday evening Governor John McKernan presented his State of the State address to the members of the 113th Maine Legislature. As always, the speech was followed by a great deal of newsprint highlighting legislators' reactions and/or any disagreements between the Governor and the Legislature. If anything was truly striking about the Governor's proposals, it was the number of areas of potential agreement. Admittedly, agreements between the Legislative and Executive branches do not make the liveliest news stories, but they do result in solid, forward-thinking legislation.

A major element of the Governor's package is a $3.5 million allocation to increase the availability of child care service in Maine. Many in the Legislature are pleased about the increased commitment in this area.

Last year, when the Governor proposed his legislation to create six Child Care Resource/Referral Centers, many legislators argued that the real problem confronting the whole issue of child care was not one of referral, but rather one of availability. There simply were not enough child care slots to which people in need could be referred.

It appears that the Governor's 1988 package is focused more directly on the child care availability problem. The $3.5 million appropriation will be used to accomplish the following:

•Purchase child care services and provide vouchers for low-income families and other "in need" populations.

•Promote new program development in the private sector by supporting demonstration projects, matching state funds with private dollars establishing revolving loan funds, linking up with other funding sources.

•Furnish training and improve salary structure for direct service providers and offer increased technical assistance, public education and quality assurance.

The Governor's growth management proposal also provides an area for potential agreement and mirrors rather closely legislation held over in committee from the First Regular Session last year. Then, as now, many members of the Legislature supported a comprehensive growth management package aimed at helping Maine towns prepare and cope with the pressures of rapid development.

The Energy and Natural Resources Committee determined that before comprehensive legislation could be passed, more information had to be collected from cities and towns across Maine. As a result of this very real concern, the Commission of Land Use and Economic Development was created. Commission members have been on the road holding public hearings and meeting with Maine people ever since—listening and discussing the wide range of growth-related problems.

Last Tuesday night, Governor McKernan pleased many in the Legislature by voicing his support for a statewide growth management plan which includes the following:

•Municipal land use planning;

•Revisions to the State's Site Location Law;

•Extension of the Shoreland Zone;

•Stronger environmental enforcement laws.

The Governor's proposal to provide minimum energy standards for new home construction in Maine came as a pleasant surprise to many of the assembled legislators. Last session, Senator John Kerry submitted a bill requiring that new buildings meet certain insulation requirements to provide energy savings and reduced heating costs for Maine residents. With opposition mounting, the bill was carried over to be considered again this session. Now, with the Governor on board, it may pass!

The Governor's message contained many more areas where agreements can be forged—areas in which the Legislature has already completed the groundwork. They include: proposals to increase support to people in job retraining and educational programs, increased educational funding as a means to reduce the local property tax, tougher drunk driving laws, and an economic development program that places emphasis on taking care of businesses already operating in Maine rather than offering massive "giveaways" and assorted incentives to attract out-of-state businesses to Maine. If the written legislation is reflective of the Governor's message there may be many opportunities for consensus and agreement.

School district hosting lecture on how to be a more inviting teacher

William W. Purkey, Ed.D., professor of counselor education at the School of Education at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will be the guest speaker at the multi-district teachers' workshop to be held at Telstar Regional High School this Friday, Jan. 22.

The workshop is a combined effort of SAD #21, SAU #25, SAD #43, SAD #44, the Peru School System, St. John's Parochial School and N.O.V.A.

Nearly 400 teachers, instructional aides and administrators from these districts are expected to attend the workshop, the cost of which is shared among the districts.

By combining their resources, SAD #44 Superintendent Dewaine Craig said, the districts are able to afford speakers of a much higher quality than they would be able to attract individually.

The recipient of numerous educational and counseling awards, Prof. Purkey has also written over 80 articles and five books, the latest, co-authored with Dr. Jack Schmidt, is "The Inviting Relationship."

His area of particular intellectual interest, according to the biographical sketch provided for the workshop, "is in inviting people to realize their potential."

Among the support materials Prof. Purkey provided for the workshop is his article, "Ways to Improve Your Invitational Quotient as a Teacher." The article describes "Invitational Education" as "a fresh approach to the educative process based on trust, confidence, strength and optimism."

"Invitational Education," the article continues, "looks at the underlying processes of human interaction that help institutional systems and people behave in ways that promote positive interpersonal relationships and encourage human potential."

Prof. Purkey goes on to identify the four "levels" of inviting—intentional disinviting, unintentional disinviting, unintentional inviting and intentional inviting—as well as the four "areas" of life in which one engages in the act of inviting—inviting yourself personally, inviting others personally, inviting yourself professionally, and inviting others professionally.

The philosophical analysis of inviting completed, Prof. Purkey suggests practical ways to become a "professionally inviting teacher." For example, in the area of "inviting yourself professionally," the teacher would: participate in programs, spend time reading, join professional groups, write papers, arrange a date (with some admired professional), and seek feedback.

Prof. Purkey has also provided the workshop with copies of "Thirty-three Posters for the Inviting School" and "The Best Meeting Ever: Thirty practical suggestions for the program committee."

Prof. Purkey's suggestions for inviting posters include the following: "Students, like acorns, develop best in an inviting environment." "A rainbow invites happiness on the dreareast [sic] day." "Smiles are invitations you never run out of." And "Have you ever thought how inviting inviting is."

Among the 33 suggestions for "The Best Meeting Ever" are such hints as: "Make careful plans." "Arrange a photographer." "Check the restrooms." "Check the temperature." And "Expedite the invoices. As soon as resources permit, mail checks out to all speakers to cover honoraria and travel expenses."

Prof. Purkey's own fee for speaking at the workshop is $1,800 plus expenses.

Students in the participating districts and schools will have Friday off so that their educators can attend the workshop.

Present manager intends to buy Ledgeview Home

Two West Paris health care facilities—the Ledgeview Memorial Home and the Chapel Valley Boarding Home—will soon have new owners.

No major changes are planned in the staffing or operation of either home, the purchasers have said.

Larry Wilday, long-time manager of the Ledgeview Memorial Home, has signed an agreement to purchase the 124-bed facility from its current owner, the Northern New England Conference of the Seventh Day Adventists.

The conference has owned the nursing home since it was opened in 1971, but the group's executive committee recently voted to get out of the nursing home business, John DePalma, secretary/treasurer of the conference said.

"The executive committee felt that the home should be run either by one of our sister organizations or by a licensed individual who would continue to provide its current services," Mr. DePalma said.

When none of the conference's sister organizations expressed an interest in running the home, it was offered for sale to individuals at an asking price of $2.3 million, Mr. DePalma said.

Three bids, all from Adventists, were received for the home, he said, and Mr. Wilday's was the highest. The price was not disclosed.

The closing is not expected to take place until the summer, in order to allow time for Mr. Wilday to arrange financing and for necessary state approvals to be obtained.

Ledgeview currently employs approximately 150 people, Mr. Wilday said, 80 to 90 of them full time.

The Chapel Hill Boarding Home, owned and run by Isobel Brown for 15 years, is to be purchased by the Western Maine Health Care Corporation, parent company of Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Daniel Marois, Stephens' vice president for human resources, said the home will be run by WMHC's service division.

The service division is one of three divisions of WHMC and is involved in a number of medical service projects in the area, Mr. Marois said, including a home respiratory therapy service and a small computer software business for medical offices.

It is also in the process of purchasing the Market Square Nursing Facility in South Paris.

The Chapel Hill Boarding Home will have no direct connection, such as shared staff, with Stephens Memorial Hospital, Mr. Marois said, but it might benefit by participating with the hospital in joint purchasing arrangements.

There are currently 15 residents at the home, Mr. Marois said, and nine people are employed there full time.

He said that WMHC has no plans to change either the personnel or operations of the home.

Girl Scout cookie sales begin Jan. 22; to Feb. 7

It's Girl Scout cookie time once again. And once again local scouts will be going around taking orders for the well-known cookies.

Available this year are Thin Mints, Tagalongs, Samoas, Do-Si-Do's, Trefoils, Chocolate Chunks, and Echos (new in 1988).

The scouts will be taking orders from Jan. 22 to Feb. 7, with deliveries scheduled March 14-31. The price is $2 per box.

If a scout does not call on you and you would like to order some cookies, you can call 1-800-851-4600.

As I See It . . .

Most of what I really need to know about how to live, and what to do, and how to be, I learned in kindergarten. Wisdom was not at the top of the graduate school mountain, but there in the sandbox at nursery school.

These are the things I learned: Share everything. Play fair. Don't hit people. Put things back where you found them. Clean up your own mess. Don't take things that aren't yours. Say you're sorry when you hurt somebody. Wash your hands before you eat. Flush. Warm cookies and cold milk are good for you. Live a balanced life. Learn some and think some and draw and paint and sing and dance and play and work every day some.

Take a nap every afternoon. When you go out into the world, watch for traffic, hold hands, and stick together. Be aware of wonder. Remember the little seed in the plastic cup. The roots go down and the plant goes up and nobody really knows how or why, but we are all like that.

Goldfish and hamsters and white mice and even the little seed in the plastic cup—they all die. So do we.

And then remember the book about Dick and Jane and the first word you learned, the biggest word of all: LOOK. Everything you need to know is in there somewhere. The Golden Rule and love and basic sanitation. Ecology and politics and sane living.

Think of what a better world it would be if we all—the whole world—had cookies and milk about 3 o'clock every afternoon and then lay down with our blankets for a nap. Or if we had a basic policy in our nation and other nations to always put things back where we found them and cleaned up our own messes. And it is still true, no matter how old you are, when you go out into the world, it is best to hold hands and stick together.

W'stock officials decline to sign cable TV transfer

The Woodstock Board of Selectmen Tuesday night refused to sign an approval for Bethel Cablevision to transfer its franchise for service in the town to United Video Cablevision.

Bill Hinton, of Bethel Cablevision, appeared before the selectmen seeking the approval, which the four other towns served by the system have already granted.

The selectmen, however, spent nearly an hour arguing with Mr. Hinton over what they regarded as Bethel Cablevision's failure to provide the coverage promised when the proposal for the franchise was first presented to the town.

The selectmen, led by Ethel Davis, repeatedly argued that the town had been given inflated estimates of how many residents would actually have access to the service.

"In my mind what it amounts to was Bethel Cablevision coming in and giving us a sales pitch just to get our signatures on the paper," she said.

Mr. Hinton refused to respond directly to Mrs. Davis' characterizations of the original proposal, or to similar complaints from the other two selectmen—he answered instead by referring to the actual terms of the franchise agreement, which, he contended, Bethel Cablevision had not only met but exceeded.

In the end, the selectmen decided to look into the situation further before signing the transfer approval.

Mr. Hinton responded by saying that the matter would probably be turned over to an attorney.

"We've gone through the required notifications, and I came here tonight to get signatures," he said.

"If you're not going to sign we want written notification within five days stating why not.

"I'm not trying to be heavy-handed," he said, "but this is a business matter."

Condo management firm opens in association with Gillies Realty, in Bethel

Responding to the Bethel area's increasing demand for property management services, Scott Management Corp. has been formed and has completed its first several weeks of operation.

Scott Management Corp. is associated with Gillies Realty and currently is located within the Gillies Realty office, on Main Street, Bethel.

The three people involved in the new business are Scott Williams, a real estate broker from the Falmouth area; Tim Martin, currently the executive director for a non-profit management company in Milton., Mass.; and Mary Gillies, owner of Gillies Realty.

The company began operation over the Christmas holidays, with the rental of townhouse units at Eden Ridge, in Bethel. Scott Management will be involved in the seasonal rental of condominium units and in the management of condominium projects.

Salaries approved for Bethel town employees

The Bethel Board of Selectmen, following a closed-door session with the town manager Monday night, approved the latter's recommendations for salaries for town employees in the coming fiscal year—fiscal 1989, beginning July 1, 1988.

The selectmen had earlier authorized a 5 percent increase in the town's salary account, leaving it to the town manager to decide how the increase should be apportioned among the various employees.

The salaries, as approved, will be as follows when the proposed budget goes to Town Meeting:

Public Works Foreman, Bob Pilgrim, $19,000, or $9.13/hour (up $1,000 from this year's salary of $18,000); Town Clerk, Merton Brown, $15,919, or $7.65/hour (up $901 from this year's $15,018); Bookkeeper, Nesta Littlefield, $13,912, or $6.68/hour (up $787 from this year's $13,125); Secretary, Charlotte Bennett, $10,920, or $5.25 (up $458 from this year's $10,462); Police Officer, Rick Osgood, $14,500, or $6.97/hour (after he completes the police academy course—up from this year's $12,792).

Sub-Foreman, Grover Young, $13,666, or $6.57/hour (up $520 over this year's $13,146); Mechanic, Garey York, $13,287, or $6.39/hour (up $557 over this year's $12,730); Equipment Operator, Danny Kennagh, $13,728, or $6.60/hour (up $562 from this year's $13,166); Equipment Operator, Jon Swan, $13,582, or $6.53/hour (up $790 from this year's $12,792); Equipment Operator, David Annis, $13,000, or $6.30/hour (up $624 from this year); Equipment Operator, part-time position not yet filled, $6,864, or $6/hour.

Total salaries for the above are $123,623 in the next fiscal year. There are also salaries for the part-time employees, such as firefighters, reserve police officers, etc.

The increases for these are as follows: Firefighters, $4/hour (no change), $6.50 for out-of-town calls; Reserve Police Officers, $6.40/hour, up from $6.15; Janitor, $4.50, up from $4.25; Laborers, $4.25-$5.75, up from $3.55-$4.25; Landfill Attendant, $5/hour (no change); Safety Crossing Guard, $3.75 (no change); Plumbing Inspector, $6, up from $5.40; Ambulance Attendant, based on calls; Animal Control Officer, $4 (call out patrols—no change).

The MSSPA has the authority to make the policy change on its own but is seeking state support to help counter expected legal challenges to the change. A joint committee of the two state agencies held a hearing on the proposal last week and is expected to announce its decision on whether or not to support the change by late February.

Opponents to the change, including some principals and coaches, argue that the actual number of boys playing on girls' teams is still quite small, and that the policy change would be a step backward toward sexual stereotyping.

The Telstar girls' field hockey team faced three teams with boys on them this fall, the last when they met Dirigo in the semifinal game of the Western Maine Championship series.

Spanish exchange student Fernando Ferrer, a tall, athletic boy from a country where field hockey is a boys' sport, was Dirigo's second-highest scorer and an intimidating stopper on defense.

While not the most skillful player on the field, Ferrer was big, aggressive and able to drive the ball at a frightening speed.

Telstar's defenders, however, played Ferrer with equal aggressiveness and perhaps a bit more skill, holding him and his teammates scoreless through two full games and six overtime periods—on the way to a 1-0 Telstar victory.

Telstar's field hockey teams have also, in the past, had mixed squads.

Three bids, all from Adventists, were received for the home, he said, and Mr. Wilday's was the highest. The price was not disclosed.

The closing is not expected to take place until the summer, in order to allow time for Mr. Wilday to arrange financing and for necessary state approvals to be obtained.

Ledgeview currently employs approximately 150 people, Mr. Wilday said, 80 to 90 of them full time.

The Chapel Hill Boarding Home, owned and run by Isobel Brown for 15 years, is to be purchased by the Western Maine Health Care Corporation, parent company of Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Daniel Marois, Stephens' vice president for human resources, said the home will be run by WMHC's service division.

The service division is one of three divisions of WHMC and is involved in a number of medical service projects in the area, Mr. Marois said, including a home respiratory therapy service and a small computer software business for medical offices.

It is also in the process of purchasing the Market Square Nursing Facility in South Paris.

The Chapel Hill Boarding Home will have no direct connection, such as shared staff, with Stephens Memorial Hospital, Mr. Marois said, but it might benefit by participating with the hospital in joint purchasing arrangements.

There are currently 15 residents at the home, Mr. Marois said, and nine people are employed there full time.

He said that WMHC has no plans to change either the personnel or operations of the home.

W'stock officials decline to sign cable TV transfer

The Woodstock Board of Selectmen Tuesday night refused to sign an approval for Bethel Cablevision to transfer its franchise for service in the town to United Video Cablevision.

Bill Hinton, of Bethel Cablevision, appeared before the selectmen seeking the approval, which the four other towns served by the system have already granted.

The selectmen, however, spent nearly an hour arguing with Mr. Hinton over what they regarded as Bethel Cablevision's failure to provide the coverage promised when the proposal for the franchise was first presented to the town.

The selectmen, led by Ethel Davis, repeatedly argued that the town had been given inflated estimates of how many residents would actually have access to the service.

"In my mind what it amounts to was Bethel Cablevision coming in and giving us a sales pitch just to get our signatures on the paper," she said.

Mr. Hinton refused to respond directly to Mrs. Davis' characterizations of the original proposal, or to similar complaints from the other two selectmen—he answered instead by referring to the actual terms of the franchise agreement, which, he contended, Bethel Cablevision had not only met but exceeded.

In the end, the selectmen decided to look into the situation further before signing the transfer approval.

Mr. Hinton responded by saying that the matter would probably be turned over to an attorney.

"We've gone through the required notifications, and I came here tonight to get signatures," he said.

"If you're not going to sign we want written notification within five days stating why not.

"I'm not trying to be heavy-handed," he said, "but this is a business matter."

Condo management firm opens in association with Gillies Realty, in Bethel

Responding to the Bethel area's increasing demand for property management services, Scott Management Corp. has been formed and has completed its first several weeks of operation.

Scott Management Corp. is associated with Gillies Realty and currently is located within the Gillies Realty office, on Main Street, Bethel.

The three people involved in the new business are Scott Williams, a real estate broker from the Falmouth area; Tim Martin, currently the executive director for a non-profit management company in Milton., Mass.; and Mary Gillies, owner of Gillies Realty.

The company began operation over the Christmas holidays, with the rental of townhouse units at Eden Ridge, in Bethel. Scott Management will be involved in the seasonal rental of condominium units and in the management of condominium projects.

Salaries approved for Bethel town employees

The Bethel Board of Selectmen, following a closed-door session with the town manager Monday night, approved the latter's recommendations for salaries for town employees in the coming fiscal year—fiscal 1989, beginning July 1, 1988.

The selectmen had earlier authorized a 5 percent increase in the town's salary account, leaving it to the town manager to decide how the increase should be apportioned among the various employees.

Total salaries for the above are $123,623 in the next fiscal year. There are also salaries for the part-time employees, such as firefighters, reserve police officers, etc.

The increases for these are as follows: Firefighters, $4/hour (no change), $6.50 for out-of-town calls; Reserve Police Officers, $6.40/hour, up from $6.15; Janitor, $4.50, up from $4.25; Laborers, $4.25-$5.75, up from $3.55-$4.25; Landfill Attendant, $5/hour (no change); Safety Crossing Guard, $3.75 (no change); Plumbing Inspector, $6, up from $5.40; Ambulance Attendant, based on calls; Animal Control Officer, $4 (call out patrols—no change).

Cable TV transfer

While satisfactory to the other two board members present—Victor Coolidge and Arthur Gilbert—this approach to maintaining local representation did not mollify Mr. Jodrey. "The reason we went with White Mountain [the owners of Bethel Cablevision] was they said they were not going to just build the system and then sell the assets and get out. Now they're apparently reneging on that."

Bethel Cablevision's Bill Hinton took exception to that charge, saying his company was not in the habit of operating cablevision systems and he was now looking for other endeavors.

Mr. Jodrey offered a compliment of sorts to the present owners when he said, "Most of the channels are garbage...[but] the signal is super-good."

United Video's Vice-President Islan said his company would live up to the high standards set by the present owners. "You'll get comparable, if not better, service," he promised.

Mr. Jodrey was all for postponing a decision on transferring the franchise, but Selectman Coolidge said, "It's not our position to tell this gentleman he can't sell to another company." He moved the board approve the transfer, and Selectman Gilbert seconded. The vote was 2-0-1, with Selectman Jodrey abstaining. Selectmen Peter Haines and Pat Dooen were absent.

In other business, Sandra Gunther and Marcia Denison, of the Affordable Housing Committee organized during the Citizens Community Conference, in October, reported to the board that they were working on understanding local needs for affordable housing and how such housing could be brought into being. Mrs. Denison said the committee feels there are three groups who need additional affordable housing. They are those families living at or below the poverty level, young middle-class families just starting out, and senior citizens.

The committee members said they were short on solutions at the moment but were hopeful that some cooperative venture between government and private enterprise could provide housing that the target population groups could afford to buy—or rent.

Mrs. Gunther noted, "In the past, industry has provided some housing." She pointed to the Steam Mill section of Bethel as one example. Mr. Jodrey said he thought some local businessmen were leaning towards that sort of solution.

In other business, the board reviewed a letter from Planning Board Chairman Reggie Brown urging a rapid revision of town ordinances so that all roads in developments be built to town specifications. He also urged the selectmen to discontinue town roads not being used. Otherwise, a developer can come in and ask that an unused town road be upgraded so it can be used in the development.

The selectmen decided to hold a workshop session next Monday to discuss what they would like to see in any road ordinances. They will then turn the matter over to the Planning Board, which may be allowed to work with a hired consultant on the issue.

The board accepted, with regrets and appreciation, the resignation of Don Eddy from the Planning Board.

The board confirmed the town manager's re-appointment of Bob Davis as fire chief, the appointment to run until June 30.

Local athletes ready to compete at Olympics

John Owen, of Bethel, has qualified as an alternate on the 1988 United States Olympic Luge Team.

In trials held in Giant's Ridge, Minn., Owen placed third in the men's one-man luge competition, earning an alternate spot on the team that will represent this country at the Winter Olympics in Calgary, Canada, next month.

A 1982 graduate of Telstar Regional High School, Mr. Owen began competing in the luge while a student at New Hampshire Technical Institute. According to his mother, Jean Owen, of Bethel, in 1984 John committed himself full-time to the sport—training from October through mid-March in Lake Placid, N.Y. or in Europe, and working during the off season.

Until last year Mr. Owen and Jody Shimamura, also of Bethel, trained together for the two-man luge, but Mr. Owen switched to the one-man sled when his partner was injured and forced to give up the sport.

There is still an outside chance that Mr. Owen will end up competing on a two-man team at Calgary.

Another person with local connections set to compete at Calgary is Leslie Bancroft Krichko, of Paris Hill. Mrs. Krichko will be competing in the women's 10K classical cross-country skiing. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings, of East Bethel.

At Sunday River, diesel backup engines enabled attendents to clear all the lifts within 15 minutes, Wende Grey said.

At Mt. Abram, a gasoline auxiliary motor was used to operate the chairlift, but it took nearly an hour to get everyone off, Jean Anton reported.

Since the outage occurred in the middle of the afternoon on a rainy day, no one missed a lot of good skiing. Nonetheless, both ski areas molified their soggy patrons with credits or "snow checks."

Wreck closes notch

A wreck involving two tractor trailers closed Grafton Notch to traffic Tuesday morning.

The two semis were in convoy, coming from Cambridge, Ontario (40 miles west of Toronto) with loads of toilet paper to be delivered to Old Town.

According to the drivers, just before midnight, when the lead truck was coming down the Newry side of the notch, it began to slide on the icy road. It finally came to rest crosswise, completely blocking the road.

The second truck was out of sight of the first. The driver said when he reached the top of the notch, the driver in the first truck called him on the CB and told him about the accident. By then it was too late, however. The second truck had no place to go and no way to stop on the slippery road.

"I was never so scared in my life," the second driver said. He said that just before he hit his companion's truck broadside, his companion warned him on the CB: "Brace yourself."

He did. His cab was totalled but he was not injured. The first truck's main fuel tank was punctured in the collision and there was considerable damage to tractor and trailer, but the rig was driveable, the drivers said.

A wrecker from their home office in Ontario was expected last night. It was delivering a new tractor to replace the one that was totalled and a mechanic was to hook up a fuel line to the reserve tank so the other rig could continue on its journey. Both drivers spent the night at the Rostay Motor Inn, in Bethel, and were expecting to continue their trip to Old Town today (Wednesday).

Cold snap

Charlie's Chevron) said he had about 40 calls for cars that wouldn't start. "I don't like that type of work," he said. "I'd rather be doing something else."

Geoff Gaudreau, on the other hand, found that kind of work to his liking. "Fantastic," he said, after the rush was over. Gaudreau's Repairs jump-started 45 to 50 vehicles. According to Mr. Gaudreau, 18 or 20 others were so cold they couldn't be started. He hauled them into the shop to warm them up before he could start them. He said he had two wreckers on the road continually during the freeze, with most of the calls being to the Sunday River skiway.

Bob Coolidge, in Locke Mills, said he was even responding to calls at Sunday River. He said he was "very, very busy," putting 250 miles on his truck during the two-day period. He started 40 or 50 cars, he said.

Sam Westleigh, at Westleigh's Service Station, in Bethel, said he sold 10 or 15 car batteries during the cold snap.

Don Katlin, of the Bethel Water District, predicted that, for homeowners, the worst is yet to come. The frost is down only about three feet into the ground, Mr. Katlin said, and the water temperature in the pipes is 35 degrees Fahrenheit.

By early February the frost will get down to four feet, bringing the temperature of the water in pipes down to 33 degrees, he predicted. This will leave a slimmer margin of safety for pipes exposed to cold.

Mr. Katlin said there were lots of freeze-ups during last week's cold spell, but it was mainly from unprotected pipes being exposed to cold outside air—as when cellar windows were left open.

"The major problem is when someone goes to Florida for a week or two," Mr. Katlin said. The water does not move in the pipes, and is therefore more apt to be affected by outside cold.

He pointed out that the connections of most houses to the water mains are buried at between four and six feet and are generally protected from the frost. On streets that are heavily traveled, however, the ground is compacted, allowing the frost to go deeper, he said.

MUNDT-ALLEN NOTES

Mundt-Allen Unit and Post #81 held a potluck supper preceding the Jan. 12 stated meeting.

Following supper, Stan Howe, curator of the Moses Mason House, Bethel Historical Society, gave a brief presentation on the U.S. Constitution and its beginning.

The Post presented to the Telstar Marching Band an American Flag and a State of Maine Flag. Lydia Bothen and Heidi Westleigh accepted the flags on behalf of the Marching Band Color Guard.

The Auxiliary received an autographed photo of the U.S. Ski Team with a letter of appreciation from Sunday River for the supper served.

Donation given to the American Legion Auxiliary Emergency Fund.

Coloring book contest will be held for Grade 4. Monetary prizes will be given.

Potluck supper will be held at the next meeting at 6:30 p.m., on Feb. 9.

County Council meeting will be at South Paris, Wednesday, Jan. 20.

Crain Turner was a caller here Saturday morning. I returned home with him for several days. On Monday Ethel drove me to Portland for my medical checkup. She brought me home Wednesday afternoon.

Joe and Barbara Hackett of Harrington, N.H., who also own a cottage at the head of the pond, are the proud parents of a baby girl. She weighed eight pounds, two ounces, and has been named Jainie Elizabeth.

Mrs. Connie Hindman drove her mother to Rumford Thursday morning for Myra's medical appointment.

"There are lessons to be learned from the old ways...basic truths that need to be reinforced from time to time...the importance of education, the joy of reading, and the numbing impact of television as a distracting jumble of images that weaken a child's powers of concentration and analysis." Andover

East Andover

By MARJORIE JODREY

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jaros and family on the loss of his mother, Mrs. Mary Jaros. She had been spending the winter in town with her son and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Coolidge left Jan. 10 by auto for Soldotna, Alaska, to visit a couple months with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Merrill and family.

The 1988 Andover Elementary Bulldog Basketball team's schedule is: Jan. 14 (Thursday) at Andover against Telstar Middle School, 3 p.m.; Jan. 20 (Wednesday) at Woodstock, 3 p.m.; Jan. 27 (Wednesday) at Andover against Woodstock, 6:30 p.m.; Feb. 1 (Monday) at Telstar Middle School, at 3 p.m.; Feb. 12 (Friday) red/green game at Andover, 6:30 p.m.; Feb. 26 (Friday) red/green game at Andover, 3 p.m.; Mar. 11 (Friday) parents/children game at Andover, 6:30 p.m.; Apr. 8 (Friday) Sports Banquest, 6 p.m.

Spelling bee at 9 a.m. at Andover Elementary School on Jan. 15.

No school, Jan. 18, Martin Luther King Day, and no school, Jan. 22, teacher's workshop.

Campbell Soup Label Contest week of Jan. 11. Classroom bringing in the most labels will win a special recess treat. Good luck to all.

John Volkernick was the fifth winner in the Telstar seniors 20-week club.

The Andover Service Circle has some of the Community Calendars for sale. If anyone is interested and didn't get one they can contact Judy Michaud, 392-1221.

The men of the First Congregational Church will put on a Baked Bean and Casserole Supper at the C.E.B. on Jan. 23 at 5:30 p.m.

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Pat Wymon was hostess to a Stewardship and Missionary Committee meeting.

Rev. Marriotte Churchill had as her sermon topic, Jan. 10, "Judgment Versus Hope." Next Sunday, Jan. 17, Hal and Linda Stone (UCC missionaries) will be guests. Worship hour will be followed by a slide presentation during the coffee fellowship, followed by a potluck luncheon. Greeters were Evelyn Bell and Dolly Jones. Deacon on call was Gerry Michaud.

Ladies Aid of the church met at the home of Betsy Fisher with a potluck luncheon. There were 10 members present.

Sympathy is extended to Dolly Jones on the loss of her aunt in Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Conrad are receiving congratulatons on the birth of their first child, a son born Dec. 23. He has been named Blake Kenneth. He is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Conrad.

Servere cold on Thursday, 20 below zero and windy here, causing lots of car trouble. Schoolbus trouble too, forcing some children to take their own cars to school so they wouldn't be late for an early class but were marked late by some of the teachers at Telstar because they didn't stand around and freeze waiting for a bus to come. The bus driver called (or his wife) to tell them he'd be late. Doesn't really seem fair. Another cold morning but the wind isn't blowing here (Friday) and school is an hour late in starting. How come they didn't do this on Thursday? In my day, before buses, on a cold day if a child made it to school walking, no matter how late, he wasn't marked tardy.

There will be a meeting at the Andover Elementary School to form a scholarship committee through the Andover Alumni Association.

Several new business members have been received so far this year by the Bethel Historical Society. Newest members include Bethel Furniture Stock, Gillies Realty, Ralph Merrill Plumbing and Heating, and Western Maine Supply Co. Much appreciation is expressed to these businesses for their support.

The newest sustaining member is Norman Ness, Jr., of Orono.

Already contributions to the Society's 1988 Endowment Campaign are beginning to arrive. Among those contributing so far are Dr. Robert and Jan York, Orr's Island; Barbara Jackson, North Easton, Mass., in memory of Ernestine Philbrook Jackson; Helen Morton, Newry; Floribel Haines, Bethel. Thanks go to all these donors for being so prompt and generous.

With the arrival of the railroad at Bethel, in 1851, increasing numbers of artists, writers, academics and other summer visitors began to spend time here. Hotels, boarding houses and other accommodations began to dot the Bethel landscape following the Civil War; increasingly Bethel became a tourist attraction.

Tourism has, in many ways, been one of the most significant factors in Bethel's past. For example, the town would have been quite different had Dr. John G. Gehring not appeared here as a tourist in the 1880s. Gehring's famous clinic (founded about 1896) attracted a national clientele. Among those who sought assistance from Dr. Gehring was William Bingham II, whose later impact upon Bethel continues to this day. What a different place Bethel would be without Gehring's and Bingham's legacy.

A writer who was attracted to Bethel in the early years of this century was Henry T. Finck, who, among other claims to fame, was long the music critic of the New York Evening Post. Finck was born in Bethel, Mo., and graduated from Harvard in 1876 with highest honors in philosophy. He later studied music theory and history before going to Germany for three years where he immersed himself in the study of sociology and psychology. When he first came to Bethel and how he heard about the town is not clear, but he was long a guest at Miss Locke's, in North Bethel (now Benton Swan's). He did spend 15 summers at Miss Locke's. (See Ruth Crosby's "I Was a Summer Boarder," for details.) He later owned the Mayville home now owned by Norm and Sylvia Clanton. As he records in his memoirs, "My Adventures in the Golden Age of Music" (New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1926), most of his 17 books were written here, and at Miss Locke's.

Finck was a great booster for Bethel, writing to his editor at Scribners while he was working on his well-known book on Wagner that he was able to "accomplish so much in midsummer" because he "was breathing the health-giving exhilarating air of the Maine mountains." He added, "Friends coming there (Bethel) from New York or Boston 'absolutely played' out would in a fortnight improve in appearance till we could hardly recognize them."

Finck was particularly attracted to the mountains of the Bethel area, none of which were "too high for climbers of even modest pretentions." He recalled "getting up at five" to "drive to the foot of one of these mountains Speckle, Saddleback, Barker, Locke and the rest of them, indulge in a feast of blueberries big as cherries, and then enjoy the grand views and the intoxicating air of the summit."

As one of America's leading music critics, Finck knew almost everyone in the musical world of his day. He first met

He was in regular correspondence with Grieg during the composition of his biography. Finck was on personal terms with Robert Franz, Paderewski, MacDowell, Dvorak, Tschaikowsky, as well as hosts of the great musicians and singers of his time. Among his best friends were those singers with Maine connections: Lillian Nordica, Emma Eames and Geraldine Farrar.

Leah Deegan went to dinner Sunday with Marion Soule and Ruby Eliot, of Palermo.

Howard and Mildred Emery, Westbrook, Irene and Lew Charest, Lewiston, and Jean Wade, Auburn, have visited Joe and Muriel Gilbert this week.

Telstar Middle School's downhill and cross country ski teams were both victorious at the Lost Valley meet on Jan 9. Patrick Harrington came in first in the giant slalom and second in the slalom. Today Patrick is with the ski team at Pleasant Mtn.

Boy Scouts were sharpening up their winter camping skills at a Friday night campout at Dewaine Craig's. They also enjoyed sliding at Gould.

Brian Hughes' Eagle Court of Honor will be held tonight at Telstar. Brian is the fifth scout from Bethel troop to make Eagle since 1931. Congratulations, Brian. Also there will be a ceremony of flag and assembly in the memory of Eric Andersen, and troop 565 will be presenting a plaque to the school.

The Reverend Carter West was in town making calls Thursday. He called on me and seemed very nice.

Mrs. Carl McKeen remains in poor health. Mrs. Frances Grante helps her often.

Tuesday evening the church had its annual meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Grover.

Mrs. Fran Hamilton, who lives on Butters Hill, had gone to Florida for a few months.

Mrs. Betty Stearns went to Norway shopping and to see her doctor Monday.

Bob Grant has returned home from the hospital and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Brenda Files was home from her work Monday at the Valley bacause of illness.

A few people found their water pipes frozen Monday morning: 20-below and a few degrees more in some places in town. My Siamese is now content to just look out the window.

Hannah F. Richardson Tent #19 Daughters of Union Veterans met Wednesday night, Jan. 13, at the home of Hildred Safford, in Norway, having cancelled their December meeting because of weather.

Ten members were present to complete details and reports of the year's work and necessary details were completed. Officers for 1988 were elected, as follows:

An exchange of gifts took place after the meeting, and the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Several items were discussed and our work and cards were signed for Sister Gladys Kilgore, your correspondent who will celebrate her 92nd birthday Jan. 17; also for the Stephen Taylors, who have had a bad winter health-wise.

At Christmas, fruit baskets were given to Gladys Kilgore, the Taylors and Mr. and Mrs. Errol Barker.

Next meeting, Feb. 24. Meet at Sarah Grover's 6:30 p.m.

The Universalist Church will be having a food sale and "white elephant" sale at the church on Saturday, Jan. 23, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. The church will be open at 9 a.m. to those wishing to bring in food and other donations.

Forward Fellowship will hold their meeting at the home of Virginia Hyam on Monday, Jan. 25. A potluck supper will precede the meeting, and Pokeno will be for entertainment after the business meeting.

The annual meeting of the Universalist Church will be held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 27, at 7 p.m. at Goodwill Hall. Reports of various organizations and election of officers will be on the agenda. There will be a board meeting following.

Bethel Historical Society seeks business members

Barbara D. Brown, head of the Bethel Historical Society's membership committee, announced this week that the Society has launched a drive to add business/corporate members to the Society's membership rolls. "Corporate and business memberships were approved last year by the Society's trustees and the membership committee is attempting to build support from this sector of the community," said Mrs. Brown. "We now have over 800 individual members and this is the next step in building the base of the organization," she added.

According to Mrs. Brown, area businesses will be solicited in the near future to join the Society. Participating businesses and corporations will receive a membership certificate that can be displayed to customers and will also receive recognition by being listed as sponsors in the Society's quarterly "The Bethel Courier," which is mailed to members and friends throughout the nation. "This will provide recognition for those businesses and corporations who chose to support an organization that is a major community asset," said Mrs. Brown.

The Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is one of western Maine's leading cultural organizations. From its headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House (1813), the Society operates a period house museum that attracts visitors from around the world.

It also is a major research center for those interrested in the history of western Maine and the White Mountains. The Society also sponsors monthly meetings, lectures, films, school programs, conferences, workshops and special events.

Others serving on the Society's membership committee with Mrs. Brown are Merton T. Brown, Jeri Brooks, Meg Cousins, Jean Owen and E.M. Quinn.

Anyone wishing further informationn on business/corporate memberships should call the Society office, at 824-2968, or write P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Maine 04217.

What a very cold day this has turned out to be. I had appointments in North Bridgton and then in Fryburg so had to get an early start. Took longer where I am in Lewiston this week at my daughter's home

As this is time for registration for upcoming session of Adult Education, Wynona has had to put in more hours so I came to stay with the girls to help her out. She came for me on Sunday and I have been here all week. She has taken time from her busy schedule to take me to the doctor's as was needed.

Being so cold today, we saw several people having trouble with their cars. Got home to find Michard had had trouble with his and it wouldn't start until he got someone to jump-start it. Guess we were lucky not to have had trouble with Wynona's car.

It was hard driving today with the wind blowing. Makes it hard to steer the smaller cars especially.

Peggy and I made the trip to North Bridgton, then Fryburg, last Friday. That was the first trip to see the dentist for help with my jaw trouble. He hopes by resetting the teeth, on my false teeth plates, to help get rid of some of the problems the jaw is causing. I hope and pray he is right. Arthritis can pop up and cause trouble in any part of one's body when you least expect it. Guess that must be part of the gold in the golden years, right? No fun, from anyway you look at it.

Peggy and I were lucky last Friday as the snowstorm didn't start until we got back to South Paris. We were most happy about that and glad we didn't get as bad a storm as predicted.

I have tried to keep my fingers busy doing different things. Made a movie clown for my niece before Christmas and have a different one in the making now. Didn't get him all put together before coming to Lewiston but will finish it when I get home. I have made two pair of mittens while here, got another pair started and done some crocheting while being with the girls. The mittens I finished were for the girls and they are both happy with them.

I have enjoyed being with my granddaughters this week. They grow and

By VIVA WHITMAN

What a very cold day this has turned out to be. I had appointments in North Bridgton and then in Fryburg so had to get an early start. Took longer where I am in Lewiston this week at my daughter's home

As this is time for registration for upcoming session of Adult Education, Wynona has had to put in more hours so I came to stay with the girls to help her out. She came for me on Sunday and I have been here all week. She has taken time from her busy schedule to take me to the doctor's as was needed.

Being so cold today, we saw several people having trouble with their cars. Got home to find Michard had had trouble with his and it wouldn't start until he got someone to jump-start it. Guess we were lucky not to have had trouble with Wynona's car.

It was hard driving today with the wind blowing. Makes it hard to steer the smaller cars especially.

Peggy and I made the trip to North Bridgton, then Fryburg, last Friday. That was the first trip to see the dentist for help with my jaw trouble. He hopes by resetting the teeth, on my false teeth plates, to help get rid of some of the problems the jaw is causing. I hope and pray he is right. Arthritis can pop up and cause trouble in any part of one's body when you least expect it. Guess that must be part of the gold in the golden years, right? No fun, from anyway you look at it.

Peggy and I were lucky last Friday as the snowstorm didn't start until we got back to South Paris. We were most happy about that and glad we didn't get as bad a storm as predicted.

I have tried to keep my fingers busy doing different things. Made a movie clown for my niece before Christmas and have a different one in the making now. Didn't get him all put together before coming to Lewiston but will finish it when I get home. I have made two pair of mittens while here, got another pair started and done some crocheting while being with the girls. The mittens I finished were for the girls and they are both happy with them.

I have enjoyed being with my granddaughters this week. They grow and change so fast. We have played with their Christmas gifts. Courtney has a Lite Brite we have enjoyed as well as computer games, and Kariann has one on A.B.C.'s which is good for her, also. Someone sure had some good ideas when they thought up these nice educational games for the children. They are so helpful for them in learning spelling, arithmetic and other subjects.

Got to cuddle up with blankets tonight to keep warm and hope the weather warms up tomorrow. They say colder tonight and it feels it. At least the wind doesn't blow as much to make the cold snap in and chill the bones. We will just have to hope for warmer weather and keep as warm as we can for the moment. Take care, everyone, and keep your long johns handy for the colder weather like this. Ought to have some for our car's, also.

FIRST AID COURSE OFFERED

The Health Education Department of Stephens Memorial Hospital is offering a Multi-Media (Standard First Aid) Course on Jan. 21 and 28, 5-9 p.m.

The Multi-Media program is an eight-hour course that covers basic first aid procedures for choking, heart attacks, stroke, bleeding, shock, poisoning, burns, bandaging and many other types of injuries. Upon successful completion of the course, participants will receive an American Red Cross certificate for Multi-Media Standard First Aid.

The fee for this course is $25; preregistration is required. For more information or registration, call the Health Education Department, at 743-5933, ext. 471 or 472.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

The month of January is half gone and Eveline is very glad that she has retired. She doesn't have to worry about the truck not starting if it is 25 degrees below zero or if we had a foot of snow during the night. It is a good feeling.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Doris and Roland Walker, also Sprague families, in their bereavements.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ilsley and Rob, Jr., returned to Lee, N.Y., Jan. 11, and Jan. 15 Robert boarded the plane for a nine-hour flight to Holland. His family will go soon. Hope it is warmer there.

Arnold Coffin returned home from the Stephens Memorial Hospital Monday.

Monday evening Larry Litchfield, Jr., of West Sumner, was on his way home with a brand new auto and a doe jumped into the road and into the car near Arnold Coffin's trailer. The game warden came and Larry kept the 90-100 lb doe. Did a bit of damage to one door.

Many large trailer trucks are hauling woodchips daily by our house from the Cactus road in Sumner by Poland Corp.

Callers at Lawrence's: Joe Vatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Stanley Heath, Bertha Benoit.

Scott Ilsley is working at McDonald's in South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathen Ilsley and grandson Ian went to Sidney, Nova Scotia, Jan. 14, to carry her cousin Madge McQuish and her son Daniel to their home. Their daughter Gracie, Lewiston, stayed at the farm with the old folks and to keep the fires going. Joe Vatcher and Howard Anderson kept an eye on them and to help with the furnace.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Roland Walker would like to express their appreciation to all family and friends who helped us through our time of sorrow.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

The Agnes Gray and Legion Memorial schools have survived the cold weather. The 2nd-graders record the temperature every day and this past week set a record. Their chart only goes to 20 degrees below zero and the thermometer registered minus-22. The wind chill factor was minus-68 degrees!

We are hoping for a minor heat wave on Feb. 5. That is the date for our annual Klondike Derby. More news on that later.

January dates to remember include Tuesday, the 26th. The 4th-, 5th- and 6th-graders will be showing their science projects in the gymnasium. Parents, friends and classmates are invited and encouraged to attend. This will begin at 1:30. Three winners from the 5th and 6th grades will participate in the district fair on Friday, Jan. 29, at the Rowe School in Norway.

Ranks close Jan. 22 and rank cards go home on the 29th. The report itself does not have to be returned to school, but the envelope should be signed and sent back to school.

The 5th-graders have started their CAP unit. The Children Are People program is our drug and alcohol abuse prevention program taught in all grades. The emphasis is on building self esteem and learning to say no! The first lesson for Grade 5 was to make a class list and to write a compliment about each classmate and to write something positive about his or her own self also. What a good feeling to hear positive comments from everyone!

Mr. Grigsby, our home/school counselor, is working with three new groups of boys and girls guiding them in discussions and activities that also fit in with the philosophy of Children Are People. His new groups are concerned with the following topics: Getting Along with Others, Separation and Divorce, and Making Decisions.

Mrs. Joan Young, the postmistress in West Paris, has notified me that our October stamp display is still making news. The November-December edition of the "Blue Eagle," the Portland MSC publication, which is distributed to postal personel in southern Maine, contained an article featuring a photo of the display and some of the members responsible for the display. It also included a thank-you letter written by Maria Herrick, Grade 5. Maria was acting as our secretary and wrote a thank-you note for the recognition and appreciation shown our group. Our Benjamin Franklin Stamp Club meets about twice a month during Friday activity periods. Stamp club members enjoy other activities too, and this week's sliding on Derby Hill is one of the alternate activities students have to choose from. Several hardy souls braved the elements for this activity.

CPR CLASSES OFFERED AT SMH

Recertification classes for Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) have been scheduled at the Stephens Memorial Hospital Health Education Office for the months of January and February as follows: Jan. 19, 6-9 p.m., Jan. 28, 8-10:30 a.m. and 2-4:30 p.m., Feb. 9, 8-10:30 a.m. and 2-4:30 p.m., Feb. 16, 6-9 p.m., Feb. 25, 8-10:30 a.m. and 2-4:30 p.m.

CPR recertifications are available to all persons needing to update their CPR in order to keep certification current.

Those interested may stop by the Health Education Office to register and pick up the current CPR book in advance. For more information, call the Health Education Office, at 743-5933, ext. 471.

Cabin Fever Specials offered by Adult Ed

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will offer several Cabin Fever Specials and short courses starting during the week of Jan. 20. To enroll in any of the courses, call the Adult Education Office, 824-2780.

"Foolproof Applique" will be the topic of a one-session program by Catherine Calef on Wednesday, Jan. 20, at 6:30 at Telstar. A $2.50 lab fee will cover all necessary materials, in addition to the regular registration fee of $3. Mrs. Calef will also be teaching a seminar in "Making Your Own Quilting Designs" on Wednesday, Jan. 27, and another on "Finishing Touches" on Feb. 3. The Jan. 27 session will allow students to make a panel, which can be finished into a pillow, after cutting their own patterns. The Feb. 3 session will demonstrate the making of continuous bias binding, and techniques used in binding quilts and pillows.

"Microwave Lite," a cooking class taught by Merton Brown, will begin Jan. 20, 6-8 at Telstar. This class will feature calorie-reduced recipes prepared using microwave ovens.

"Brick and Block Laying" is a two-session class set to begin Thursday, Jan. 21, taught by local mason Neil Donovan. The enrollment will be limited to 10 people to allow for plenty of practice in hands-on building of a wall using cement blocks and brick.

Openings are still available in the "Small Business Tax Workshop" set for Friday, Jan. 22, 9-1, at the Moses Mason House, in Bethel. This will be taught by a representative from the Internal Revenue Service and is co-sponsored by Adult Education and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

On Monday, Jan. 25, Ed Hitchcock will again present his "Jazz and Swing Night," featuring music of the 1930s and '40s for a nostalgic look at the big band era. This will be held at Telstar, at 7 p.m.

"Basketry," with Jan Todd, will see students making an onion basket in a single session class, from 6:30 to 9:30, at Telstar on Tuesday, Jan. 26. There will be a $4 lab fee plus a registration fee of $3.

Limited openings remain in several of the classes that began during the week of Jan. 11, including "Chair Seating," "STEP-Teen," a parenting class for parents of teenagers, and "Knitting." Classes in "Introduction to Computers" and "Bird Carving" are full.

Exercise classes at Telstar and Woodstock schools have openings. Both meet on Mondays and Thursdays, with an additional session at Telstar on Tuesdays.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Last night was a bitter cold night and something was happening while the tired world lay sleeping. A storm moved in and the world moved out. The boundaries round about were lost in the blending clouds of snow.

When I got up the eastern sky was filled with bright light of sun— a brightness that shone on a white glittering vastness, blanketed with sparkling jewels filigreed on shrubs and trees as far as I could see.

Then came the bleak winds howling past. I watched them writing messages on the pond. I could read them as I watched. Cold, strong, below zero, nippy, stay in! I did most of the time.

From my window I can see many trees, but there is one stately, regal pine on the Patch Mountain road with lofty branches reaching high. It waves a silent tribute to fleecy clouds as they drift by. It has staunchly stood against the velocity of many gales, as it stood today with grace and dignity. I call it "queen of the forest", as it towers over all it surveys.

I'd like to take a walk across a snow-capped hill and pause upon my way, to look at the farmhouse, snug and not far below, as so many times I have done, but I know that I shouldn't on such a freezing day.

As time progressed, evergreens seemed suddenly to pop up everywhere like spring flowers out of nowhere. Winter, the time when trees switch green frocks for snow stoles and sun sparkling glaze. But winter isn't always as tough, as this first week of January 1988. It can lose its heaviness and become as beautiful as a star-shaped snowflake, which I have seen on my swollen lilac bud.

So the day has lingered into evening. The setting sun has painted the sky aglow. Softly the night enfolds and our houses settle down in deep repose. As the night winds howl about the chimney and the swirling snows tick the windows, I'll listen to the cozy fire, the song of the teakettle, read or write, and dream of other snow-filled days in bygone years.

Things seem slow in town since Christmas—at least I haven't heard about them. Someone did try a high dive with their car over the bridge into the water a short time ago. It must have been a refreshing swim.

It's a bit nippy at 18-below zero here this Jan. 11, but with no wind I could hardly believe it.

My callers were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks, West Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis, town. Ann Holt, Bethel, was at her parents' home on Sunday.

Ray and Gloria Curtis visited Fred and Rena Curtis on the weekend. They live in Norway. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heikkinen, Livermore, were also there. Fred was in Lewiston one day to see his doctor.

Eva Felton and Kathy Curtis were in Lewiston this week.

The January meeting of the Ladies Circle was postponed until Feb. 1.

Thelma Lowery, Betsy Clark, Karlene Bachelder, Beatrice Lowell, Gilberte Seeley, Sylvia Wight, Olive Anderson and Eleanor Davis were in Rumford bowling Jan. 13. Mrs. Lowery was high scorer. Mrs. Clark was high scorer Jan. 6.

The Mothers Club met Jan. 11, at the municipal building with 12 present. In the absence of president, Nancy Wight, vice president Eleanor Davis opened the meeting. Gilberte Seeley gave a prayer for Lee Swan, who is in the hospital. Secretary, Peggy Wight, read the minutes of the last meeting. It was voted to give a sum of money to the Snowmobile Ride-In. Karlene Bachelder conducted a fun game. Birthday greetings were given to Eleanor Davis, Sylvia Wight, Wendy Hanscom and Persis Post. Refreshments were served by Beatrice Lowell, Eleanor Davis and Sylvia Harrington. The next meeting will be Feb. 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the municipal building. Gilberte Seeley will conduct the game. Valentines will be exchanged. Mary Tripp, Helen Morton and Sylvia Wight will serve refreshments.

Residents on Bear River, above the Branch Road turn, were without power Thursday morning, Jan. 14, for about two and one half hours.

Chamber of Commerce

The Board of Directors met Thursday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 a.m., at the Casco Bank.

The fundraising committee is expecting to meet today (Wednesday) at 4 p.m. at the Casco Bank to discuss the possibilities for the upcoming year. The committee desperately needs volunteers.

Winter Wonderland Week is Feb. 5 through 11, and for the third straight year the balloonists will be taking part. If you would like to host one of the balloonists with room and board at your home, call Lynn Hodgkins, at the Sunday River Ski Resort. You'll get a free balloon ride in exchange.

Henry MacMunn is once again offering his tax expertise gratis to senior citizens.

A large part of the board meeting was devoted to discussing the proposed 1988 budget and ways to fund the budget, including membership dues. Any members wanting to know more about the new budget should contact the office.

Three new members have been welcomed into the Chamber: the Ledgewood Motel, in Norway; Nielsen's Apartments, on Chapman Street, Bethel; and the Blue Iris Motor Inn, in Rumford. There will probably be a Business-After-Hours get-together in February so that Chamber members can get to know each other better.

Barbara Brown has been appointed chairman of the nominating committee and is looking for volunteers to serve on that committee.

The next board meeting is Feb. 11, at 7:30 a.m., in the Casco Bank. All Chamber members and guests are welcome to attend.

Please join.

Historical Society passes goal in endowment drive

Howard W. Cole of Bethel, chairman of the Bethel Historical Society's 1987 Endowment Campaign, announced this week that the $7,500 goal had been exceeded by the end of the campaign on Dec. 31, 1987.

"I am very gratified that we have succeeded once again in reaching our goal," Mr. Cole said. "I am grateful to everyone who made this success possible."

Contributions were received from 333 businesses and individuals during the past year. This exceeds the previous record of 319, set in 1985, according to Mr. Cole.

The endowment campaign is designed to increase the endowment of the Society so that, in the future, staff and other needs can be met on a timely basis.

Assisting Mr. Cole this year were John B. Head, of the Society's Investment Committee, Barbara D. Brown, of the Membership Committee, E. Louise Lincoln, Assistant Treasurer, and Alden T. Kennett, representing the Board of Trustees.

Founded in 1966 and incorporated in 1971, the Bethel Historical Society is Oxford County's only full-time historical agency. Now 800 members strong, it operates from the Dr. Moses Mason House (1813) on Broad Street, the oldest surviving Federal-style house on Bethel

Chamber of Commerce

The Board of Directors met Thursday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 a.m., at the Casco Bank.

The fundraising committee is expecting to meet today (Wednesday) at 4 p.m. at the Casco Bank to discuss the possibilities for the upcoming year. The committee desperately needs volunteers.

Winter Wonderland Week is Feb. 5 through 11, and for the third straight year the balloonists will be taking part. If you would like to host one of the balloonists with room and board at your home, call Lynn Hodgkins, at the Sunday River Ski Resort. You'll get a free balloon ride in exchange.

Henry MacMunn is once again offering his tax expertise gratis to senior citizens.

A large part of the board meeting was devoted to discussing the proposed 1988 budget and ways to fund the budget, including membership dues. Any members wanting to know more about the new budget should contact the office.

Three new members have been welcomed into the Chamber: the Ledgewood Motel, in Norway; Nielsen's Apartments, on Chapman Street, Bethel; and the Blue Iris Motor Inn, in Rumford. There will probably be a Business-After-Hours get-together in February so that Chamber members can get to know each other better.

Barbara Brown has been appointed chairman of the nominating committee and is looking for volunteers to serve on that committee.

The next board meeting is Feb. 11, at 7:30 a.m., in the Casco Bank. All Chamber members and guests are welcome to attend.

Historical Society passes goal in endowment drive

Howard W. Cole of Bethel, chairman of the Bethel Historical Society's 1987 Endowment Campaign, announced this week that the $7,500 goal had been exceeded by the end of the campaign on Dec. 31, 1987.

"I am very gratified that we have succeeded once again in reaching our goal," Mr. Cole said. "I am grateful to everyone who made this success possible."

Contributions were received from 333 businesses and individuals during the past year. This exceeds the previous record of 319, set in 1985, according to Mr. Cole.

The endowment campaign is designed to increase the endowment of the Society so that, in the future, staff and other needs can be met on a timely basis.

Assisting Mr. Cole this year were John B. Head, of the Society's Investment Committee, Barbara D. Brown, of the Membership Committee, E. Louise Lincoln, Assistant Treasurer, and Alden T. Kennett, representing the Board of Trustees.

Founded in 1966 and incorporated in 1971, the Bethel Historical Society is Oxford County's only full-time historical agency. Now 800 members strong, it operates from the Dr. Moses Mason House (1813) on Broad Street, the oldest surviving Federal-style house on Bethel Hill. Its period house museum, featuring Rufus Porter murals, and its research facilities attract visitors from throughout the United States. Well-known for its publications, the Society also sponsors monthly meetings, lectures, films, school programs, conferences, workshops and special events. The Society was honored for outstanding work in 1987 by the Maine League of Historical Societies and Museums and the Maine Historic Preservation Commission.

SUPPER & HYMN SING JAN. 22

Area churches will join in a potluck supper and hymn sing on Friday, Jan. 22, at the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel. The supper will begin at 6 p.m., with singing to start at 7.

This event, sponsored by the Bethel Area Clergy Association, has been planned to mark the "Week of Prayer for Christian Unity." People of all churches are encouraged to attend, bringing a casserole, salad or dessert to share. Beverages and rolls will be provided.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Eva Buckman wish to express thanks to all who helped in any way at the loss of our mother. Thanks to the staff at Ledgeview and to Pastor Rodney Hanscom for his kind words.

Forums planned on 'Issues of Aging'

An "Issues of Aging" forum will be held at Telstar High School on Wednesday, Jan. 20, focusing on health care topics and funeral planning. The session will begin at 7 p.m. and will consist of a panel discussion featuring Jan Stowell, of Androscoggin Home Health Services, Muriel Whitney, of the Bethel Area Health Center, and Arlene Greenleaf, of the B.E.A.R.S.

Each presenter will describe services available for the elderly from their respective agency. The session will also include a discussion of funeral planning, with Sayward Lamb, of Greenleaf and Andrews Funeral Homes.

There will be another "Issues of Aging" forum on Wednesday, Jan. 27, on legal and financial issues affecting the elderly, with an attorney and a banker as presenters. Such topics as guardianship, estate planning, wills, and power of attorney will be discussed.

Pre-registration is required for the session. Call 824-2780 to enroll.

United Way official sees need in Oxford County

Child care, affordable housing and health care topped the list of major social service needs, according to a recently completed survey for a proposed United Way in Oxford County.

The survey results were released by Dick Adams, Community Planner for Community Concepts, Inc., of South Paris. The Oxford County Committee for a United Way is meeting this week to review the needs assessment and survey made to determine community response to a United Way.

"I'm happy with the results," said Mr. Adams, "especially with the number who are willing to help to make an Oxford County United Way succeed." Responses included a willingness to commit personnel to a United Way compaign and support a payroll deduction plan.

The questionnaire was sent to Oxford County school districts, more than 35 business firms and 17 agencies, many with programs partially supported by contributions from the public. The Committee believes United Way will serve to provide stronger financial support for community programs needed throughout the area.

Other needs identified by the survey include recreational facilities in some communities, help with the high cost of medical and dental care and information about where to find emergency food, shelter and child care in area communities.

The Department of Human Services reports that in Oxford County, with a population of only about 50,000 in a 2,000 square mile area, more than 10 percent of the population are now receiving food stamps, and 11 percent of the population participate in the Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP).

The 27-member Committee for a United Way is weighing the needs of Oxford County communities and how best to meet them at a time of federal cutbacks in funding of social services.

CARD OF THANKS

Many thanks for the plants, fruit bowl, cards and telephone calls while I was in the hospital. They were greatly appreciated.

Home repair expert needed to train VISTA volunteers

The Oxford County VISTA Housing Rehab Program is looking for a volunteer to train others in the skills required for home repair and weatherization.

According to Susan Haley, volunteer coordinator for Community Concepts Inc., of South Paris, which sponsors the VISTA program, the person selected will supervise and train groups of five or six volunteers working at individual job sites. The VISTA group currently has eight such rehabilitation and weatherization projects underway throughout Oxford County.

The position requires a one-year commitment, in return for which the volunteer would receive a subsistance allowance, medical insurance and a stipend at the end of his or her period of service.

The stipend does not affect Social Security benefits, Ms. Haley said, which might make the position especially attractive to a retired person from the building trades.

In addition to having carpentry and weatherization skills, candidates for the position must be able to climb ladders and work in basements, she said, and they should have a reliable car or truck.

If you don't have a high school diploma, you can start on one now

SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Adult High School diploma classes will begin for the second semester during the week of Jan. 25. Courses scheduled for the second term are English, U.S. History, and Refresher Math, with a number of half-credit courses set to begin in March.

Any adults who do not have a high school diploma and who would like to get started this spring should contact the Adult Education office, 824-2780, as soon as possible to arrange their schedule. Merrill Bittner, the adult guidance counselor, or Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell will be happy to discuss available options for adult high school completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hoover

ELIZABETH A. HOYT MARRIES STEPHEN G. HOOVER

Elizabeth A. (Beth) Hoyt and Stephen G. Hoover were united in marriage on Sept. 12, 1987, at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church. The Rev. Linwood Hanson officiated. Also taking part in the ceremony was the Rev. Dan Pickering and the Rev. Michael Valardo. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Floyd Kenniston, organist, and Mrs. Abbott Ladd, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt, of Bryant Pond. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Hoover, of Cohocton, N.Y.

The bride wore a floor length gown and her mother's veil.

Matron of Honor was JoAnn (Hoyt) Crockett, sister of the bride, from Bethel. Bridesmaids were Althea (Chase) Stevens, Bethel, and Crystal Chase, Locke Mills, cousins of the bride.

Best Man was Rev. Daniel Cook, Ashville, N.Y., the groom's brother-in-law. Ushers were David Trosper, Genva, Ill., also the groom's brother-in-law, and Jeff Hacnisck, Avoca, N.Y., friend of the groom.

Timothy Cook, of Ashville, N.Y., nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

A reception was held at the new Woodstock School.

The couple honeymooned in the White Mountains and now reside in Avoca, N.Y.

The bride is a graduate of Telstar Regional High School and Word of Life Bible Institute. Until her marriage she worked with Child Evangelism Fellowship.

The groom is a graduate of Cohocton Central School and Houghton College. He is employed by the Bank of Avoca.

News from

Woodstock School

By Dixie Inman

The past week at Woodstock School has been an active one.

The basketball team traveled to Telstar for a 3 p.m. game, on Tuesday.

Mr. Duncan Slade worked with all students during the month of January, with three different visits to entice the children to explore the field of art. Thank you for your visit.

The Brownies and Junior Girl Scouts went to Motion 26 for a roller skating party. A good time was had by all girls and parents.

"Clown Al" visited our school on Friday morning. He spent time with Grades 4, 5 and 6 in the morning. An all-school performance was held at 1 p.m.

Grade 1 has made a movie. This movie was to finish a Social Studies unit. Each child talked about themselves as a student and helped with the tour. This video will be made available for parents and other classes. Grade 1 also hopes to share this video with Bethel and Andover 1st-graders.

An art exchange is being planned by the Creative and Talented Program in Grades 3-6. This group of youngsters will draw pictures of their lives and send them to children in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. Also, art supplies will be sent so students in Honduras can participate in the exchange.

The next meeting of WPTO parents is scheduled for Tuesday.

NEW CPA FIRM ORGANIZED

Donald M. Favreau, Gary E. Flick and Edward W. Whittier have formed Favreau, Flick & Whittier, PA, Certified Public Accountants. This has been accomplished through the merger of E. W. Whittier & Co., of South Paris, and the firm of Donald M. Favreau, certified public accountant, of Brunswick.

Two Adult Education classes are rescheduled

Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell announced the rescheduling of two classes to be offered as part of the winter course schedule in SAD #44 Adult and Community Education.

The "Natural Foods Cookery" class at Telstar, sponsored by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education has been postponed until Jan. 28, when it will run for three weeks on Thursday nights, 6-8 p.m. Carol Duplessis has an exciting array of new recipes using whole grains and healthy ingredients and cooking methods. To register for the class, call the Adult Education office, 824-2780.

The "Color Slide Photography II" class will be offered this winter if the minimum enrollment of six is reached by Wednesday, Jan. 20. The course will be taught by Tim Mills and will feature the use of the 35mm camera to take color slides. The class is open to those who took "Color Slides I" in the fall or to those who have mastered the basics of operating their 35mm camera. To enroll, call Adult Education, 824-2780.

Desktop publishing seminar set for Feb. 3

"Desktop Publishing" will be the topic of a seminar scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 3, at Telstar High School.

The seminar is sponsored by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education and will be conducted by Penny Gruen, manager of marketing communications for Coastal Computer in Brunswick and Portland. The seminar will start at 7 p.m.

In this session, Ms. Gruen will introduce the concept of desktop publishing, using a Macintosh computer, Laserwriter printer and publishing software, and discuss how desktop publishing applies to small businesses, community organizations and the school system. She is a former high school and adult education teacher, specializing in English, art and journalism, and holds an MA in Publications Design.

To register for the seminar, for which there will be a fee of $3, call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

Gould Academy hosting an evening with the PSO

Once again alumni and friends of Gould Academy are invited to hear the Portland Symphony Orchestra on Sunday, Jan. 31, followed by a buffet reception.

The Pops concert is entitled "From Vienna to New York" and features two Metropolitan Opera, Broadway and musical theatre stars: Mary Beth Peil, soprano, and Robert Goodloe, baritone. The music includes selections by Strauss, Lehar, Herbert, Romberg, and Friml.

The buffet will follow the concert in the State of Maine Room in City Hall, Portland, and will include elegant meats, cheeses, hors d'oeuvres, and desserts with a Viennese and New York flair.

A block of tickets has been reserved for Gould. Those interested should contact Fran Bernier, Gould Development and Alumni Office, 824-3598.

West Bethel

By HARRIETT STOWELL

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Lovejoy, Shane and Angela, Diana and Shanna Walker, were at the home of Roy and Dorothy West on Saturday, Jan. 7, in honor of Rebecca West's 13th birthday.

Scott Korhonen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Korhonen, and a student at Vermont Technical College, placed 2nd in cross-country at Paul Smith College in New Yort recently at a meet with five different college ski teams participating. Scott was also on the dean's list this past semester.

Several college students from town returned to their studies recently after Christmas vacation.

Ann Mason, who is at Ledgeview, will be celebrating her birthday on Jan. 20, and I'm sure would appreciate cards from friends.

Juanita Korhonen, Arlene Bernier and Laurie Bergeron were hostesses at a stork shower for Darlene Korhonen at the farm last Saturday, with 15 friends and relatives attending. The lovely shower cake was made by Flo Bernier.

Craig and Janis Boyd and children, Chelsea and Sam, of Brewer, spent this past weekend with his mother, Colleen Boyd.

Highway deaths up in '87

The Maine Highway Safety commission reports that 21 people died on Maine's highways during the month of December: 52 percent of the fatalities involved alcohol, while excessive speed was indicated as a factor in 50 percent of the crashes.

The December report showed that five of the victims were pedestrians—the highest number killed during any month in 1987. However, Richard E. Perkins, director of the Bureau of Safety, said this is not unusual for this time of year. "December has fewer daylight hours than any other month and darkness makes it more difficult to see pedestrians," he said. "In addition, it is a month in which snow and ice make it difficult for drivers to stop quickly."

Only two of December's fatalities were reported to be wearing seat belts. "While we may not be able to prevent all motor vehicle crashes, safety belts can give occupants a better chance of staying alive if a collision occurs," Mr. Perkins pointed out. "Your odds of surviving a serious crash can double just by buckling up on every trip."

December's deaths raise the 1987 total to 232, continuing Maine's trend toward increased numbers of fatalities over the last three years. There were 214 fatalities in 1986.

BIRTHS

At Maine Medical Center, Portland, Jan. 13, to Pamela Cole (formerly of Bethel) and Francis Allen Reed, of Otisfield, a son, Dallas Allen, 2 pounds 12 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buker, of Bethel, and Mr. Walter Reed Sr., of Otisfield.

43% of Maine homes use wood for heating

Harvey E. DeVane, director of the state's Office of Energy Resources, announced the results of the annual Maine Home Energy Survey. The survey indicates that 180,000 Maine households are using wood to heat their homes.

"We are surprised and pleased by the leveling off in the use of wood after several years of decline," Mr. Devane said. "The decline in the past has been attributed to falling oil prices, but this year's survey shows that people have adjusted to the lower oil prices."

The survey shows that 43 percent of the residences used some wood for space heating. The average cost is estimated at $67 per cord, although most wood was purchased in four-foot lengths at $55 per cord, or cut and split at $85 per cord. Total firewood consumption in year-round Maine residences is estimated at 812,000 cords. The total value of wood purchased throughout the state is $35 million.

"Approximately 68 percent of Maine households surveyed relied upon oil for all, or some, of their heating needs," Mr. DeVane noted. "The survey also indicates that homeowners are doing less comparative shopping in choosing a supplier of home heating oil."

DeVane pointed out that hot water is heated with electricity in slightly more than 50 percent of Maine households.

"We are pleased to see that conservation efforts appear to be working, with over 110,000 hot water heaters wrapped with insulation," DeVane said.

The State Energy Office's annual survey was conducted by Maine Poll-Northeast Research, in Orono. The pollsters surveyed 648 Maine households about energy usage.

HELEN R. THURLOW

Helen R. Thurlow, 87, of West Paris, died last Friday, Jan. 15, 1988, at her home following a long illness.

She was born at Coventry, Vt., Nov. 23, 1900, the daughter of Willis E. and Jennie Sumner Barrows. She received her education in Vermont elementary schools and graduated from South Lancaster Academy, South Lancaster, Mass., in the Class of 1918. She also graduated from Atlantic Union College, also in South Lancaster, in the Class of 1923.

She taught school at the Maritime Academy, in Memrancook, New Brunswick, Canada, for two years. From 1925 to 1929 she was preceptor at the original Pine Tree Academy, in Auburn, where she met her husband, Erland Thurlow. They were married Aug. 25, 1927. He died Nov. 6, 1985.

In 1929 she and her husband moved to South Lancaster, Mass., where she was an assistant in the music department and the business office at the Atlantic Union College until 1935, when she became assistant treasurer of the Southern New England Conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

In 1938 the couple returned to Maine where they operated farms in the Otisfield and Oxford area for many years. Mrs. Thurlow gave instruction in piano and organ. She was organist for the Oxford Seventh Day Adventist Church and the Oxford Congregational Church for many years. She also served the Oxford Seventh Day Adventist Church as treasurer and in many other capacities. She and her husband were instrumental in the founding of the Ledgeview Memorial Home, in West Paris.

She is survived by many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Monday, from the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Oxford. In lieu of flowers, those who desire may make donations in her memory to either the Sandy Ridge School, Box 205, Oxford, or the Forestdale School, RFD #2, West Paris.

IONA F. McALISTER

Iona F. McAlister, 91, of East Stoneham, died Saturday, Jan. 16, 1988, at Market Square Health Care Facility, South Paris.

She was born in East Stoneham Aug. 22, 1896, the daughter of Charles and Almeda McKeen Flanders. She attended Stoneham schools and had been employed at C. B. Cummings Co., in Norway.

Mrs. McAlister was a member of the East Stoneham Congregational Church, the Norway-Paris Senior Citizens and the North Waterford Friendly Senior citizens. She was married to Raymond A. McAlister in 1911. He died in May 1942.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Richard (Marilyn) Jones, of Norway; a sister, Myrtie Mayberry, of Allston, Mass.; two granddaughters and one great-grandson.

Funeral services were held Monday in the East Stoneham Congregational Church. Interment will be in the spring, at Hillside Cemetery, East Stoneham. In lieu of flowers, those wishing may contribute in her memory to the East Stoneham Congregational Church, c/o Mary Grover, East Stoneham, Maine 04231.

SLED DOG RACES CANCELLED

The sled dog races, originally scheduled for this weekend, have been cancelled due to the continuing bad weather. Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, which was chief sponsor of the event, decided last night, together with officials of The Bethel Inn, to cancel the event.

Mrs. Zinchuk said owners of dog teams had called during the day to say they did not want to race on an icy surface. The rain this week has made the golf course quite icy and there was a fear of injury.

THE CARTER FAMILY runs not only a farm market but also a growing cross-country ski barn and ski touring center. The operation is on Rte. 26, in Oxford.

This is your Chamber of Commerce

Each week, this column will spotlight a different member of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The purpose is to give some understanding about the various fields of endeavor of the Chamber members.

Carter's Farm Market and Cross Country Ski Center is located on Rt. 26 in Oxford. Owned and operated by David and Anne Carter, who have lived at that location for 11½ years, the business originated as a working farm. While they have been growing and selling their high quality produce at that location for many years, the cross-country ski shop and ski touring center has been a more recent addition to their many-faceted business.

David and Anne are both Maine natives, David being the son of Dick and Lyndell Carter, of Middle Intervale, Bethel. He graduated from Gould Academy in 1967, where he was an avid skier and a member of the ski team.

The Carters have recently renovated their circa 1820 barn into one of Maine's largest cross country ski lodges. They have rentals and lessons for all ages, and a well-equipped cross-country ski shop offers quality equipment at reasonable prices. There are also 15 kilometers of well-groomed trails, which attracts folks from all over. Night skiing is available upon request for group parties.

A youth program has been designed and offered to the Oxford Hills school district for the past four years, where up to 60 youth have been put on skies at one time.

With the help of family and friends, Richard Carter (Bethel), Toivo Piiranen (South Paris), Doug Zinchuk (Bethel) and Anne Mallory (West Paris), the renovation of the barn, the formation of a genuine, family oriented, complete cross country ski center and opening of their bed and breakfast, The Welchville Inn, have all been made possible.

Dave and Anne would like to invite you all to see their new facilities and try out their trails. Call them at 539-4848.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Following is a comment on the 19th century English painter, John Constable:

"Constable turned away from the florid painting of his day and attempted by means of his pictures to begin once more to tap the springs of simplicity. He insisted that the landscape artist must walk through the fields in all humbleness and that it was never granted to an arrogant man to see nature in all her beauty."Jurgen Schultze

And J. M. W. Turner, another artist, felt, says Schultze:

"The potential forces of color acquire a general existence of their own, independent of the objects depicted. Mood is determined by colors which are intended to arouse special emotional reactions."
